Network313 will play a major role in the future of the entire cryptocurrency space and what we call the "DEFI" part of cryptocurrency.

Network313 will have its own cryptocurrency exchange to buy, sell, and exchange cryptocurrency from any blockchain listed on our exchange, as well as its own Layer 1 Blockchain that will be available to the public, as well as its own clothing brand called $313 and a weekly newsletter/article on all current blockchains and their tokens that we see and use on a daily basis.

The main difference between the Network313 Blockchain and any other is that it will be the first scam and what we call "RugPull" free chain. There will be protection in place to stop any of this happening.

As we have not completed the specifics on the chain yet, major details will not be available till Whitepaper V1, but so you understand how the Blockchain will protect investors from scams and rugs, here is a little bit more information.

- 27 Only developers with a previous clean and good history will be able to build on the blockchain.
 - 27 All contracts will be audited by Network313
 - 27 Contracts must not contain any mint function unless authorised to do so, and also, there must be a maximum limit that tax can be set at.
 - 27 Supply must be either all added to liquidity, burned or a mixture of both
 - 27 All LP locks will be locked with the blockchain's own token locker and will not be able to be locked by anywhere else on or off the blockchain.

The contract will not be renounced, so tax, maximum wallet, and maximum transaction could be changed if you wish.

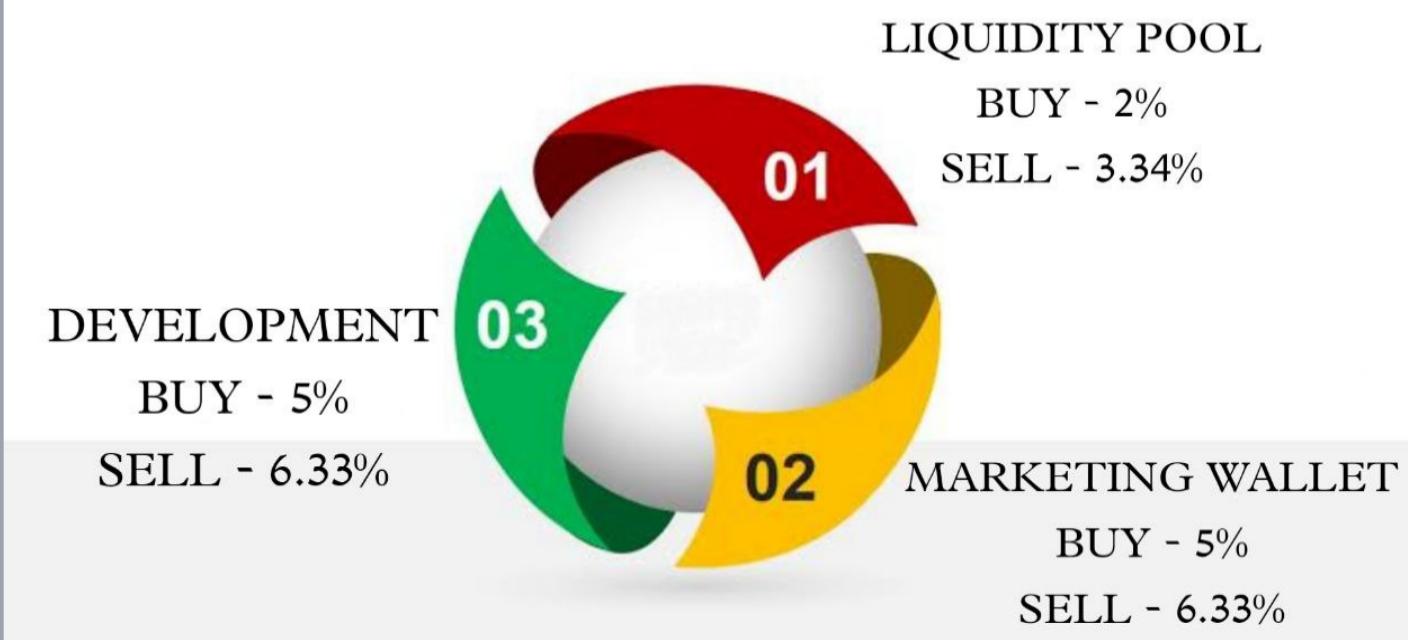

The maximum wallet and maximum transaction will never change. It will always be 2%.

The tax will change after 72hours as the sell tax will be set higher then what we will call our normal tax level. At times, we may have incentives for people to reinvest or to get new investors to buy the $313 token.

S, The Developer

So I thought I would use this bit to tell you a little bit about me, as even though I am already publicly doxxed, it is nice to know a little more.

So I am 33 years of age and from England. The last project I had went to around $75k in market value. If not for the demise of the blockchain it was on, we would have been around $750k plus more with the hype it would have had.

So why blockchain? I am not just a developer, I am also a daily user of cryptocurrency myself, especially the "DEFI" part of it, so I understand what goes on with all the scams daily and how much it can affect cryptocurrency. So I want to make a difference. I want people to use cryptocurrency for how it should be used. You stand a fair chance when you invest instead of something or someone standing in your way working against you.

If you want something bad in life and you keep going towards that target, it will happen. The dream will only ever end when you give up the fight. On launch, I will open a door where investors can choose which way they want to go. Do they want to stay and have things how they are now, or do they want a clean, safe future where investing is what we will call... FearlessInvesting
